

As I write this, America is thinking about Armistice day — and the thoughts are doleful ones, about an ironic holiday that has become history's greatest bust.

On November 11, 1918 we thought we had occasion to celebrate. It marked the end of fighting in our first experience with a major foreign war; we were victorious, and jubilant.

But war returned to Europe in only 21 years, 1939; and by 1941 we were engulfed ourselves — in an interval of only 23 years. That's a rapid sequence, as wars go; and, if wars are a measuring stick of diplomatic failure, then our failure has been monumental.

Armistice day, however, is no time for lecture or cynicism. Peace is as elusive as heaven; mere mortals deserve something better than being scolded for doing no more than they can. And cynical thoughts die before utterance as the mind's chamber of memory recalls the casualty rolls of two generations of Americans ordered into battle by their older countrymen.

The years have humbled us. A young nation's arrogance has given way to confusion and doubt. This is a time to pray for understanding.

We are helped a little by the written record of history. After Armistice day, 1918, we set up a republic for the Germans; but in the succeeding years we not only quit helping the Germans — we actually disarmed ourselves here at home. At this safe distance in time it sounds as incredible as calling out the fire department to quell a city-wide conflagration, and then disbanding the firemen because "the city has been saved."

Of fires and wars there is no end. As a forthright observer I must report that our government appears to have read closely the history of the postwar period of the 1920s and resolved not to make the same mistakes. We are staying with the Germans this time; and we are keeping ourselves armed.

We are behaving like intelligent men. Without wanting war, we, in a world that has no peace, are prepared for war.

And to that extent we guarantee our young men against wholesale shooting — which previous diplomacy did not.

This is small comfort for the bereaved families of the Korean war dead and wounded and missing. It may be we are in for years of remote fighting, first one place and then another. So are the English. So are the French. And such has been the history of every big and evicted nation.

But a prepared nation has time on its side. History is grinding on Russia perhaps harder than on ourselves. Something will crack, sooner or later; tension will ease, and the world will have an extended period of peace and security.

Such is our hope and prayer this Armistice day.

Reported Toll of Disease Believed High

Tokyo, Nov. 10 (AP) — General headquarters hinted today it considered too high the Washington figures on the number of cases of hemorrhagic fever among U. S. troops in Korea.

"We cannot reconcile the figures released in Washington with any reports sent from this headquarters," said Col. George P. Welch, headquarters public information officer.

The army's surgeon general in Washington reported Thursday there have been 106 cases diagnosed and 25 deaths among American soldiers. Welch declined to say whether he thought the figures to be high or too low. He said simply there would be no figures available until a careful investigation is made.

However, this reluctance to give out details indicated that the army here may feel the Washington figures as of now may be too high, with some doubtful cases having been included.

Navy to Call Up Reserve Officers

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — The navy is going to release 93,000 reservist veterans of World War II, before July 1.

In announcing this yesterday, the navy said those to be released are men who were not receiving pay for reserve activities when they were recalled to active duty after fighting began in Korea.

LOYALTY PROBE

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman says that 99.5 per cent of the 3,883,000 government employees checked by the FBI under the loyalty program have been found loyal.

During the four years since the program started, Perlman added in a television interview (CBS) last night, "343 persons have been dismissed" as a result of the loyalty checks.

Bobcats Take Arkadelphia for Loop Win

Hope ran into a surprisingly stubborn Arkadelphia defense last night and it wasn't until the final quarter that the Bobcats were able to ice the game with two touchdowns for a 20-0 victory.

It was the first conference win for the Bobcats against three losses.

After a scoreless first quarter, Baber connected with Bright and Yocom for a first down on the Badger two yard line then crashed over the only score of the first half.

The third period was a repeat of the opening quarter when neither team could move consistently. But the final period was all Hope. Three completed passes and a ten yard gain by Baber worked the ball in striking distance. Interference was ruled on a pass play on the Arkadelphia two and Clyde Arnold went over. Orville Bright kicked the extra point giving Hope a 13-0 lead.

Shortly after Nolan Stanford turned in the best scamp of the night. The Bobcat mite took a punt on his own 40, faked a handoff to Bright, then raced 60 yards through the entire Arkadelphia team for the final score. Bright kicked the point.

Although their defense was stout the visitors had practically no offensive punch and only made one first down during the entire game. Barbare, Camp, Byers, Wiggins, Baber and Bright stood out for Hope.

The Bobcats picked up 13 first downs and netted 130 yards rushing to Arkadelphia's 9. Hope tried 15 passes, completed 8, had one intercepted. Arkadelphia tried 3, completed one and had one intercepted. Both teams drew five penalties for 55 yards. Hope fumbled 4 times, recovering only one; Arkadelphia fumbled 5 times, recovering two.

'Percenters' Still Doing Business

Kansas City, Nov. 10 (AP) — Five percenters and influence peddlers are "still doing business in Washington at the same old stand," Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) asserted in a blast at the Truman administration last night.

"Maragon is in jail but Harry Vaughan still is in the White House with his deep freeze," the only announced candidate for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination told a dinner audience of 500.

(The senator's references were to John Maragon, former Kansas Citian who is serving a jail sentence for perjury, and Gen. Harry Vaughan, personal aide of President Truman. Maragon was once a frequent White House caller.)

"The entire nation has been shocked over and over again by the low state of political morality in this present administration," Taft said. "Its partisans have not even bothered to deny the improper influence frequently revealed in congressional investigations. x x x

"The Pendergast regime in Kansas City by high officials of the government. x x x The nation resents the extension of pendergastism to Washington and its domination in the political thinking of those who control the government."

The Ohio senator also leveled a sharp attack on the government's foreign policy and particularly on its handling of the Korean problem.

Taft left Kansas City late last night for Enid, Okla., where he had a breakfast engagement. He was to speak at Oklahoma City at noon and at Tulsa tonight.

Armistice Day Sunday

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — Tomorrow is Armistice Day — the 33rd anniversary of the end of World War One.

Since the day falls on Sunday, the legal holiday this year will be Monday. But some observances begin tomorrow, particularly in church prayers for peace.

Parades, prayers and celebrations this year will emphasize the fact that 33 years after the end of the first global war, the United States has been through a second world war, and is now engaged in a bitter, undeclared war in Korea, and a vast rearmament effort, aimed at making the country and the free world strong enough to obviate World War Three.

DIZZY NO DOUBT

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 10 (AP) — Six city prisoners were taken from the jail to the hospital yesterday as blood donors, but only five returned.

While they were waiting for police to pick them up after they gave their pint of blood each, one prisoner complained of "feeling dizzy" and was allowed to get some air. As far as police know, he is still getting it.

Churchill Asks Additional Aid From America

London, Nov. 10 (AP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill broadly suggested last night that the United States give the "fullest consideration" to Britain's need for financial help for her rearmament program and her sagging economy.

"I feel sure this will not be denied us," Churchill said, speaking at the annual dinner given by the lord mayor of London.

As the 76-year-old wartime leader's suggestions were being made, a British treasury official said his government will ask — for the first time in 11 months — for fresh dollar aid. One informant estimated Britain would ask for $300,000,000.

Churchill based his belief that Britain would get American consideration on the fact that his country has provided the principal forward U. S. atomic base.

"It must not be forgotten," he said, "that under the late (Labor) government we took peculiar risks in providing the principal atomic base for the United States in East Anglia (Eastern England), and that in consequence we placed ourselves in the very forefront of Soviet antagonism."

"We have, therefore, every need and every right to seek and receive the fullest consideration from Americans for our point of view, and I feel sure this will not be denied us."

Churchill's reference to Britain as the principal U. S. atomic base pertained to the more than 20,000 American men at air bases spread all over the country. But no British or American official would say whether any atom bombs actually are stored in England.

On the Kansas-like plains of East Anglia there are five huge U. S. bomber bases, and further inland four more are nearing completion. All nine of these bases will be capable of handling the huge A-bomb carrying 10-engine B-36 bombers.

Churchill said he wanted to see Britain "play her full part" in the anti-Communist world. But he said the country first must regain financial solvency.

"The conservative prime minister paid high praise to American efforts to deter Communist aggression as 'the main foundation of peace.'"

"I feel deep gratitude toward our great American ally," he said. "They have risen to the leadership of the world without any other ambition but to serve its highest causes faithfully."

The treasury official said the British request for aid would be made to the financial and economic board (Feb) of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, which is based in Paris. The plea will be for money rather than military goods and equipment, and the official said Britain also expected to share fully in the new $4,800,000,000 military aid program authorized for Europe by congress.

Woman Revives in Morgue

San Francisco, Nov. 10 (AP) — A 60-year-old widow teetered with death today, two days after coming back to life in the morgue.

Mrs. Theresa Butler was pronounced dead Thursday. But at the morgue entrance an attendant heard a faint gasp and saw her jaw flicker.

Doctors at San Francisco hospital said it was touch and go for the woman.

Empty sedative bottles and notes to her daughter were found near her.

Doctors said she passed one crisis yesterday when her kidneys began functioning again. Her pulse and breathing were slightly fast, her blood pressure low.

Even if she lives it may be only as an automaton, doctors said, because of the two-hour or more span with scarcely any oxygen reaching her brain.

PENSIONER ROBBED

Columbus, O., Nov. 10 (AP) — "Old-age pensioners aren't supposed to have bank accounts."

That's how it happened, said Edward Null, 73, that two men robbed him of $35 — his life savings — Wednesday.

Null died of a heart attack last night.

A Woman Never Wants Advice From Any Man on Just How She Should Treat Her Husband

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP) — The thing a woman wants least from any man is his advice on how she should treat her husband.

Discovering this odd trait of feminine psychology has put me in dutch with a lot of lady readers.

A woman will go to a man today to design her a dress or a new hairdo. She will ask his advice about the best stocks and bonds to invest her cash in. She will welcome — or at least listen to — male views on any subject in the world from how pretty she is to what a graceful carriage she has.

But let a poor hapless outside man tell her how to treat the guy in her life — and she bares her fangs in a storm of vowels and consonants. On the subject of how to handle her own chunk of money, real estate she wants to remain sole authority.

This dismal conviction arises from a mistake I made recently. The mistake lay in writing an article on "How to Spoil A Husband." My thesis was that a lot of American wives wanted to spoil their husbands, but had forgotten how. I undertook to tell them — but never again.

In the course of my little essay I made the remark that a wife might greet her husband with his house slippers in her teeth when he came home after a hard day over his hot desk at the office.

That waggish observation has landed me in the doghouse. For one thing, my own Ozark bride, Frances, happened to read the article.

"What you don't know about women, Rover, would fill an empty head than yours," she began — and went on from there. It turned out to be a one-way conversation. Her way.

Then the letters began to come in. The ladies across the land wanted to know whether I thought they ought to wear dog collars, too. (Editor's note: Well, they're cheaper than mink scarfs.)

(Boyle's note: Look, you better stay out of this — or you're going to be in the soup also.)

Many a wife also took just as much umbrage about my innocent suggestion that she perform for her husband once in a while some of the small courtesies he usually performs for her — such as lighting up his cigarette for him.

"My husband will crash through 40 people at a cocktail party to strike a match for a blonde across the room," one said. "But at home if I stood there with an unlighted cigarette in my mouth he wouldn't notice me if he were wearing a microscope."

"If I ever light his cigarette for him — well, it'll be with a blowtorch."

And another wife wrote:

"We will gladly greet our husband with his slippers dangling from our mouths, if we are allowed to carry our dog manners a trifle further when he becomes slightly unreasonable."

"But what makes you think that mamma has been sipping tea out of a golden cup ever since he left?"

She said that what threatened to drive most young mothers to drink was this: To spend a herculean day mopping, dusting, washing, ironing, and cooking — and then to have friend husband greet her at eventide thusly:

"Hello, dear wife, why do YOU look so tired?"

Her letter continued:

"And you say that we ought to get our own coats out of the closet and put them on all by ourselves, for a change, on the nights we go out well, Mr. Husband won't get a stiff arm from helping once every two months."

All right, ladies, I was wrong. It isn't the husbands who need to be spoiled. Someone ought to tell them how to spoil wives — their own, naturally.

(Monday) — Husbands: Here's how to spoil your wife and have fun.)

Lions' Yule Fund Is Now Nearly $1,600

Hope Lions club's Christmas fund for the underprivileged hit a new high of $1,576.14 yesterday when four club members visited the Rotary Club luncheon in Hotel Barlow and became amateur waiters.

The Lions, Bob Shivers, Ben Owen, Bob Daniels, and Buddy Mhoon, waited on tables and gathered a total of $40.64 in tips for the charity fund.

The three day radio auction over Station KXAR netted an unofficial total of $1,535.50, and the added tips yesterday from the Rotary luncheon put the tentative net total of the Lions Christmas fund at $1,576.14.

New Waterfront Crisis Appears in New York

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — The possibility of a new crisis hovering over the New York waterfront today as rival factions in the A. F. of L. International Longshoremen's association (ILA) charged each other with true violations.

With a record pier strike called off 24 hours ago, leaders in the intra-union dispute traded accusations of discrimination against strikers and non-strikers.

The dissident ILA group charged that underworld figure Anthony Anastasia, an ILA hiring boss, locked out 17 wildcat workers who sought to return to work yesterday at Brooklyn pier. Anastasia, in a telephone interview, said he refused to hire two men on orders from his employer.

ILA President Joseph P. Ryan countered that the rebel locals were threatening to oust longshoremen who worked during the 25-day, billion-dollar tieup of the world's greatest port. Dissident leaders did not comment on the Ryan statement.

A New York state fact-finding panel brought the strike to an end early yesterday. The disputants agreed there would be no hiring discrimination because of the walk out.

Longshoremen streamed back to work here and in Boston as the board carried out its promise to continue hearings into the ILA fight involving a new work contract. Those were the only ports shut down by strikers.

Oil Experts Advise U. S. to Prepare

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — Oil experts have assured the government that it's entirely possible — and may be wise — to store large quantities of petroleum products, including liquefied petroleum gases, in giant underground caverns.

Such storage, the national petroleum council says in a report prepared for the department of interior, would protect petroleum supplies from possible enemy attack, and afford considerable savings in manpower and steel normally used in preparing tanks above ground.

Both manpower and steel are of vital concern to defense planners in the present emergency.

The interior department had asked the petroleum council to make a study of the possibility of development of 100,000,000 barrels of underground storage capacity in or near large market areas.

The report contained maps showing vast underground salt beds in northwestern Texas, eastern New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Michigan, northeastern Ohio, northern West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and southwestern New York, and salt domes in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

"These formations are reasonably close to areas of large (oil) consumption," the council said. It added that "an incomplete survey of salt mining companies indicates that a considerable amount of storage might be made available by merely rehabilitating existing chambers."

The council said it would make further studies of other types of storage, such as natural caverns, mines and shale formations.

The report estimated that storage of 100,000,000 barrels in 100 wells would require .003 man-hours and 4.6 pounds of steel per barrel, and would cost 11 cents a barrel.

Above-ground storage at atmospheric conditions — .0535 man-hours 6 pounds of steel, and $1.18 per barrel.

Above-ground storage under pressure — 7.2 man-hours, 110 pounds of steel, and $20 per barrel.

Europe-Bound Congressmen Cause Trouble

Washington, Nov. 10 (AP) — So many congressmen are going abroad that the military air transport service is said to be hard pressed to provide them suitable planes.

In addition, the state department is reported running short of escort officers.

Approximately 90 house members and 19 senators now are overseas or are planning official excursions during the current adjournment of congress. Others completed tours earlier in the year.

Although a few groups chose to travel by ship, most of the lawmakers preferred to go by air, covering a greater amount of territory. Several of the journeys extend around the world.

The defense department is finding it a headache to rustle up enough planes of the type usually assigned to VFWs — very important persons — officials say. Practically all insist upon plush, four-engine ships. An exception is one small group planning to leave soon for South America, where many airfields will accommodate only the smaller two-engine jobs.

The congressmen are depending on planes to get them back to Washington in a hurry if an emergency should demand their presence. Hardly a spot on the globe is more than two days by fast plane from the capital.

One of the largest groups now abroad includes seven house members and seven senators, appointed to attend the annual convocation assembly of the council of Europe in Strasbourg, France.

The house members of this delegation are Reps. Cox (D-Ga.), Smith (D-Va.), O'Toole (D-Ny.). The senate group is headed by Senator Green (D-Ri), the senate's oldest member and an indefatigable world traveler. Other senators along are Wiley (R-Wis), McMahon (D-Conn.), Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Benton (D-Conn.), Hendrickson (R-N.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.).

This group, which is meeting in Paris this week, also has been invited to visit the West German government at Bonn, the Austrian Government at Vienna and the United Nations general assembly in Paris.

Negotiators Ban Idea of Giving Up Ground

Munich, Korea, Nov. 10 (AP) — U. N. truce negotiators today gave up the idea of swapping hard-won land in central and eastern Korea for Kaesong in the west if and when a cease-fire line is drawn.

A new proposal submitted by Allied negotiators at Panmunjom called for a cease-fire buffer zone based on the line of contact, and provided for only "such minor local adjustments as may be mutually considered desirable." The line would be determined after other points on the armistice agenda are settled.

In nearly all past proposals the Allies demanded "appropriate adjustment" be made in fixing the line.

Observers have taken this to mean that the U. N. Allies wanted compensation for whatever territory they were giving up when the cease-fire line was settled. But the Allies have said they were willing to give up territory in the east for Kaesong in the west, located on the protection of Allied-held Seoul, south Korean capital.

The possibility remained that Kaesong might be in the United Nations hands when a cease-fire line eventually is plotted.

The Communist subdelegation submitted a new cease-fire proposal Saturday but, a U. S. spokesman said, it was "an offer" refused, and "that" the Allies rejected it.

Presumably both offers will be discussed when the subcommittee meets in their last session Sunday at 11 a. m. (8 p. m. Saturday CST).

The U. N. proposal Saturday was the words "minor local adjustments." Previously the U. N. Allies had referred to "adjustments of major changes" in the demarcation line.

The new stand appeared to be the United Nations' way of saying "no" to the Communist offer of swapping land for real estate.

In effect it also meant the U. N. Allies were giving up their claim on Kaesong — unless U. N. armistice negotiators take the former truce site by the time agreement is reached on the remaining points to be settled.

Those points — Any one of which may be as hard to settle as the buffer zone problem — are: Arrangements to supervise the truce, exchange of prisoners, recommendations to the various governments concerned, including withdrawal of troops.

Nucleos said the United Nations proposed that the subcommittee try to solve the "buffer zone" problem by submitting a proposal following to the full five-man negotiations.

"In order to establish a demarcated zone as a basic condition for a cessation of hostilities in Korea, the sub-delegation recommended the establishment of a military demarcation line located at the line of ground contact at the time of the signing of the armistice agreement and the creation of demilitarized zone four kilometers (two and one half miles) in width by the withdrawal of each side a distance of two kilometers."

The agreed military demarcation line, the military demarcation zone and the buffer zone of the demilitarized zone being subject to minor and local adjustments, may be mutually considered desirable."

Both sides have agreed a four-kilometer buffer zone.

Weather Keep President Indoors

Key West, Fla., Nov. 10 (AP) — President Truman was a frustrated man today.

He kept a sharp lookout for an improvement in the weather. He hasn't been able to swim or sunbathe since he flew to this naval submarine station Thursday.

It's been too cold, too wet or too cloudy since that time for even a man as hardy as the President to venture outdoors without a sweat-soaked suit.

Nobody in Key West talked about anything except the weather. Not that the little White House wouldn't even talk about that. Nobody wants to offend the Key West Chamber of Commerce officials, who, after all, can't do anything about it.

The President plans to take things easy over the weekend. He may go to church Sunday at the station chapel in observance of Armistice Day.

Roger Tabby, assistant White House press secretary, declined all comments on the international situation.

The American-French-British proposal for reducing arms and armaments, which the President has challenged Russia to accept, is being left in the hands of Secretary of State Acheson in Paris.

For the time being, Mr. Truman is following the course of waiting reaction for world capitals. Yesterday the President spent most of the day inside the little White House. After breakfast he took a 30-minute walk around the naval submarine station where he has his quarters and walked down to the enlisted men's beach where he usually swims.

He assigned work to members of his staff, held a staff meeting and dictated letters. He also listened to phonograph records for almost an hour. After lunch he took a nap.

There just didn't seem to be anything else to do.

Gable to Take Leave of Absence

Hollywood, Nov. 10 (AP) — Clark Gable has taken a leave of absence without salary from his movie studio to "attend to personal affairs."

The "personal affairs" include divorce troubles with his fourth wife, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley. She files suit for divorce in California and he filed in Nevada. However Mrs. Gable now has obtained an injunction prohibiting him from getting the Nevada divorce and the actor's attorney says he will not press the case there.

As to his movie career, a spokesman for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio said yesterday: "There is no suspension involved. Gable asked to be taken off salary for a time to attend to personal affairs and the request was granted. Anything Mr. Gable returns from Nevada and makes himself available for work he will be placed back on the payroll."

DOROTHY DIX

Employing The Middle Aged

Dear Miss Dix: Through the recent death of my husband, I have been forced to get out into the world to make my own living. I am 46, but everyone thinks I am in my late thirties. My problem is: Why don't people have jobs for those over 35? Thirty-five seems to be considered the age at which one becomes too infirm to handle a job. I have three years of high school, which surely should be enough for a file clerk. What am I supposed to do — retire to an old ladies' home? I have been thinking of taking a business course but if I can't get a job when I finish, what good is it? I am neat-dress well, am in good health — in fact, the only thing wrong with me is that I'm five years too old.

W. R.

Answer: By overlooking the potentialities of good workers in the middle-aged group, employers are doing themselves and their would-be employees a great disservice. Our increased life span has added more years to a woman's life than to a man's, with the result that most women are left widowed and must be self-supporting, or dependent upon their children.

Most women prefer independence and rightly so, since today a woman in her forties, fifties and even sixties, is definitely not in her dotage. She is, on the contrary, usually a chic, well-dressed, poised creature of intelligence, efficiency and ability. What more could an employer want? She lacks only youth and years of recent experience. Yet her fine qualities will be passed over time and time again in favor of inexperienced help.

It's Easy For The Young

Young workers, of course, need their chance too, but for them the road is easy. The older woman needs encouragement and a chance to show what she can do.

There is a secondary problem that comes out in this letter. To be successful in job-hunting, one must have something to offer. Young are middle aged, there is little opportunity for workers who have had no training whatever. This is why I campaign so ardently for every woman to learn some profession, or trade. So I urge you, W. R., to take the business course you contemplate. At least with typing and perhaps shorthand or bookkeeping to offer as you enter into business, you have something to combat the bug-aboo of years. If you go to a qualified business school, they may have an employment service that will help you make contacts with various firms. Naturally, any prospective employer will lose interest in you immediately if your answer to the question, "What can you do?" is "Nothing."

It is always more difficult for an older woman to get a job, but once she has one, she proves by loyalty and competence that she can hold her own with younger girls.

Dear Miss Dix: My mother thinks it is a disgrace for a 15-year old girl to wear shorts in public, such as going to the library or shopping in our small town. All my friends wear them and I have seen ladies up to 40 years of age in shorts.

I also have a dating problem. All my friends are permitted to go out with boys alone, but my parents go by and pick up my boy friend, take us where we want to go and call for us later. My boy friend doesn't like this but puts up with it.

ALICE

Answer: Living by the high standards your mother is setting for you will be much more productive than following the gang and blindly doing "what all my friends do," which I know is the accepted code for teenagers. Shorts are an appropriate costume for beaches or sports, not for strolling around town. You are being taught the valuable lesson of keeping things — and costumes — in their rightful place; profit by it.

The supervision exercised by your parents over your dating is another evidence of the good bringing up you are fortunate enough to have. Your boy friend is getting good service and cheap transportation through your parents' generosity. I think he can put up with it a while longer. By the time you're 16 mom and dad will probably let you have your dates alone.

Dear Miss Dix: When a fellow breaks off his engagement with a girl is she supposed to return the ring? If she refuses to return it, does that mean that the man is not free to go with another girl?

JOHN

Answer: Once an engagement is broken, regardless of who keeps the ring, both parties are absolutely free to go with anyone else. The girl is supposed to return the ring when an engagement is broken, but if she refuses, there's nothing you can do about it without causing a great deal of unpleasantness to all concerned.

Professor Denies Charge of Burglary

Santa Barbara, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP) — A handsome sociology professor awaited his preliminary hearing on burglary charges today and declared indignantly:

"Why, I never stole a single thing in my whole life."

Dr. Gwynne Nettler, labeled by his students as the best dressed professor at the Santa Barbara college campus, was arraigned yesterday on three counts of burglary and one of carrying a concealed weapon, to wit: One pistol in his automobile.

At the same time, Dr. J. Harold Williams, provost of the college, announced that Nettler had resigned.

The professor, in jail for lack of $3,000 bail, comes up for preliminary hearing Nov. 15. He insists he is innocent and blames a woman for his plight.

The authorities contend that by day, Nettler was a respectable teacher of sociological subjects, including crime detection, but that by night he looted rich homes in Santa Barbara's Montecito district.

Sheriff's deputies who arrested him Wednesday on a tip from a disgruntled girl friend said they found stolen furnishings such as rugs, lamps, and chairs in the prof's $150-a-month rented house.

The district attorney's office had refused to reveal the woman's identity, saying only that she will be a witness against Nettler when he comes to trial.

Nettler, however, had this to say about her:

"She and I had differences, you know, and she vowed that if she couldn't have me, 'No other woman shall!'"

Talking with reporters, the 38-year-old professor said he was raised in Boyle Heights, a tough section of Los Angeles.

Nettler apparently had arisen above his environment, however, to become a doctor of philosophy and a fellow of the American Psychological Association. Before coming to Santa Barbara he had taught at Pomona (Calif.) College, Stanford, Reed College in Oregon, and the University of Washington.

Memphis, Nov. 9 (AP) — Two Negro children died in a fire which consumed their one-story frame home here yesterday. Two others were rescued.

The dead were identified as Henry Bowens, nine months, and two-year-old James Lee Bowens. The blaze started in a flue, firemen said.

Pine Bluff, Nov. 10 (AP) — Michael (Mike) Donovan, assistant secretary-manager of the Pine Bluff Chamber of Commerce, has been charged with assault with intent to kill in the beating of a woman.

Donovan, who surrendered to Jefferson county authorities yesterday, is accused by Prosecutor Pat Mullis of beating Pearl Burgess Wednesday night with "his fists and certain deadly weapons."

North Little Rock, Nov. 10 (AP) — Drivers and warehousemen of the Goff Wholesale Grocery Co. yesterday rejected, 16 to 11, the AFL teamsters union as their bargaining agent. The election was conducted by the national labor relations board.

West Memphis, Nov. 10 (AP) — A Negro apartment house was destroyed by fire here Wednesday, leaving 25 persons homeless. Damage was estimated at $3,500. Fire Chief Whit Murphy said an overheated stovepipe caused the blaze.

Ailing Eva Talks for Husband

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Nov. 9 (AP) — The voice of ailing Eva Peron puts the finishing touch tonight to her husband's appeals to Argentina's more than 6,000,000 voters to return him to the presidency in the election Sunday.

As opposition parties held closing rallies, many supporters of President Juan D. Peron awaited his wife's recorded radio message, hoping for promises of salary increases and other social gains if her husband is re-elected for the 1952-53 term.

Senora Peron underwent a major surgical operation three days ago, but recorded her message to her "supporting laborers" — before she went to the hospital. Her condition was reported to be improving yesterday.

INCORPORATES

Little Rock, Nov. 9 (AP) — A & N Enterprises, Inc., of Searcy filed articles of incorporation yesterday to operate a tourist court, sell ice cream products and operate a ready-to-wear store. Authorized capital was listed at $50,000. Incorporators: Elliott W. and Gara M. Arnold and Isom J. and Theda G. Noble.

Seeks to Learn Warren's Intentions

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP) — A California draft movement put that big political question up to the three-time Republican Gov. Earl Warren today:

"Are you a candidate for president?"

Warren may not think the time is ripe to say yes, but he was expected to give some hint of his intentions at his regular news conference at 10 a. m. (1 p. m. est) today.

State Republican leaders launched a Warren draft in a letter to the governor who calls himself a progressive and says only a liberal candidate can win the presidency next year.

They urged him to seek the GOP nomination as he did in 1944 and 1948. He ended up as Thomas nomination as he did in 1948.

The letter also asked Warren to authorize placing a favorite son delegation on the June presidential primary ballot. It may be that he will consent to this now—and then wait for the draft to gather momentum before actually declaring his candidacy.

Raschi to Leave Hospital

Baltimore, Nov. 10 (AP) — New York Yankee Pitcher Vic Raschi is slated for discharge today from Johns Hopkins hospital. A frayed cartridge was removed from the hurler's knee nine days ago.
Raschi will remain in a Baltimore hotel for several days after his release, he said. A cast has been removed from his knee, and he is now getting around on crutches.

Michigan, Irish Game Heads List

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 10 (AP) —
Two giants of Midwest football, Deep and deadly Michigan and Notre Dame, are scheduled to battle here today for national honor in a duel of power-packed offense.

The undefeated Michigan State Spartans, seeking their 13th consecutive victory, are slim favorites over the sophomore-studded Notre Dame Irish, losers only to Southern Methodist this year.

A capacity crowd of 51,000 fans, plus television viewers, will see the game. A cloudy day, with occasional sun flurries, is forecast.
After a week of heavy snow and cold.

Hundreds of MSC students have worked round the clock for 42 hours removing 11 inches of snow from the playing ground and stands of Macklin field. The canvas-covered turf reportedly is only slightly soggy.

The Spartans, with two and three men for each position, are rated primarily a running team. But they have a potent passing combination in Quarterback Al Darrow to towering Ends Bob Carey and Paul Dekker.

The Irish, with flashy runners in John Pettibon and Neil Worden, emphasize passes from Quarterback John Mazur to Capt. Jim Mutscheller. They are a young and scrappy outfit, with the usual Irish flair.

In their last four games, the Spartans have come from behind to win with a fast "pony" backfield in reserve overpowering enemy defenses. But MSC supporters fear the tactic might not work against the "never-say-die" Irish.

A victory for the Spartans might put them back near the top of the heap in the national rankings by the Associated Press. They were rated fifth this week, while Notre Dame was seeded No. 11.

Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, a chronic pessimist, has told friends cautiously "our boys have a slight chance" to upset State's Biggie Munn, tight-lipped, concedes Notre Dame an "edge."

This he explains, is due to the

Bolt Leading Pinehurst Golf Meet

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP) — Tommy (Thunder) Bolt, who has made a habit of playing his best golf late in the year, is at it again.

The 33-year-old native of Oklahoma, who calls Houston, Tex., home, but registers out of Durham, N. C., because of a driving range of his 50 rivals, after 54 holes of the North and South Open golf tournament.

With today left open to avert college football complications, Tommy's successive rounds of 71-72-71 for 214 left him two under par and one stroke ahead of Cary Mid-dlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn.

Middlecoff, 36-hole leader at 142, slipped to 73 yesterday for 214.

Middlecoff, winner of this tournament while an amateur six years ago, is the year's No. 2 money winner with more than $24,000 in his credit. He's won six tournaments and finished second in three others.

Five dangerous professionals, including polo pony Jimmy Adams, British Ryder cupper from Scotland, were locked at 216, only two strokes off the top end. Joining Adams were Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., the year's No. 7 money winner, John Harnum, husky shotmaker from Grand Rapids, Mich.;
Bobby Toski, of Northampton,
Mass., and Julius Boros of Southern Pines.

Still possibilities at 218, were Max Evans, Detroit pro, and Dick Chapman, Pinehurst amateur, who holds the British Amateur championship.

They were one shot ahead of Ted Bishop, Weston, Mass., former U. S. amateur champion, and two British Ryder cup players, Dai
Rees and Max Faulkner.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Nov. 10 (AP) — If anybody is looking for a defender of two-plateau football, which has been under considerable fire lately, they could do worse than pick on Harry Lawrence of Bucknell.
Lawrence's team carries an 11-game winning streak into today's tussle with Colgate. It leads the East in total offense and is third in total defense. It's scoring stars, Burt Talmage and Brad Myers, are 12 in the East in yards by rushing. — And Bucknell has done all that with a two-plateau squad of just 38 players. — Want the details? Just listen.

Quote, Unquote

"We have been using the two-plateau system since 1949, and we have a smaller squad today than we had in 1949," Lawrence says.
"We now have more participation in the game with the 22 regulars outnumbering the substitutes."
The boys do not learn lap-sided football, as everyone on the squad works on both offense and defense all week long. — We play before crowds of 4,000 to 10,000 and have operated successfully under a limited budget. — Plateau football is all to the good. If athletic departments of larger colleges are forced broke, blame it on their individual policies, not on plateau football."

It Takes The Imagination

It must have been a record of some sort when the International Boxing Club, fouled up in a debate over increased service charges since the tax on free tickets was removed, didn't hand out any Annie Oakleys for last night's Garden fight. — But a cheering note on the situation came from Allen Lacombe, who promotes fights in New Orleans. — Says Allen: "Of-hand you'd say that will hurt a promoter like me, but it ain't true.
When I give out a $3 ticket free my constituents always ask demand the back for taxes too. Now
I won't have to give my friends but about two bits — plus caffeine to the joint."

McHan, Drake to Duel Tonight

Houston, Tex., Nov. 10 (AP) — Arkansas and Rice meet here tonight in a Southwest conference football game expected to be as close as they come.

Some handicappers have installed the Bigger Arkansas Razorbacks as one-point favorites. Other observers figure it even-steps.
Both teams want to keep their conference championship hopes alive. Rice's Owls, who have lost one loop league, still have a chance to win an undisputed crown. Arkansas, which has won two and lost two within the league, must win to retain hopes for a share of the title.

A feature of the contest may be a duel between two fine sophomore quarterbacks, the Razorbacks' Lamar McHan and the Owls' Dan Drake. McHan is a constant threat as a runner and a passer from Arkansas' biggest weapon is Drake's passing to End Bill How-ton.

A hip injury is bothering Howton, but he is due to play at least part time.

Arkansas is in its best physical condition in weeks, but Coach Otis Douglas fears a psychological let-down after last week's win over Texas A. & M.

Two other Southwest conference games are carded this afternoon.
Baylor meets Texas at Austin and Southern Methodist takes on Texas
A. & M. at College Station. Texas
Christian has an open date.
